

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended
Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS
This Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak in favour of a medicine than commons of pious eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases steamed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.
They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.

FALSTAFF A MAN OF COURAGE.

So much for Sir John's reputation as a soldier. Let us now examine into facts. In the heat of the battle at Shrewsbury he says, and as he speaks it in soliloquy it cannot be suspected of falsehood or boasting.

I have led my ragamuffins where they are pepper'd: there's not three of my hundred and fifty left alive; and they are for the town's end to beg during life.

How he had escaped himself is no matter: he had led his soldiers into a service of very great danger, and stood by them to the last. We see him after thus expending his whole corps, with sword and target in the midst of the battle, in perfect possession of himself—still replete with wit and humor and jocularity, punning with Hal—

P. Henry. I prythee lend me thy sword.

Falstaff. Nay, Hal, if Percy be alive thou get'st not my sword. Take my pistol if thou wilt.

P. Henry. Give it me. What, is it in the case?

Falstaff. Ay, Hal—'tis hot, 'tis hot: there's that will sack a city.

(The prince draws out a bottle of sack.)

P. Henry. What, is it a time to jest and dally now? (Throws the bottle at him and exits.)

In such circumstances a prudent man would not jest, but a coward could not.—When the prince departs, and Falstaff is about to follow him into the heat of the action, he says,

If Percy be alive, pierce him. If he do come in my way, so: if he do not—if I come in his willingly, let him make a carbonado of me. I like not such grinning honor as Sir Walter Blunt hath.—Give me life: which if I can have, so; if not, honor comes unlocked for, and there's an end.

Thus, then, is the soliloquy and in battle. If every soliloquy in similar circumstances were as audacious as Falstaff's, the imputation, perhaps, might be found too general for censure; yet, after all, what does he say? He is resolute to take his fate—if Percy do come in his way, so; he will abide the consequence; if not, he will not seek certain destruction. He is willing to save his life; but if that cannot be, "honor comes unlocked for, and there's an end." What is there of cowardice in this? There is neither the bounce nor the whine of that character.

But now comes an unlucky circumstance for Falstaff's reputation as a man of courage. While he is encouraging the prince in his combat with Percy, "Well said, Hal, to him, Hal!" he is himself attacked by "that hot termagant Scot," Douglas. Here resistance on his part would be quite out of the question—there was no match: nothing remained, then, but death or stratagem—grinning honor or laughing life; but an expedient occurred, and what was the more to his liking, a ludicrous one. Take your choice, Jack—a point of honor, or a point of drolery! It could not be a question: Falstaff falls, Douglas is cheated, and the world laughs; but he falls like a bullock only—the superior principle prevails, and he lives by a stratagem growing out of his character, to prove himself no counterfeiter, to jest and to fight again.

The robbery at Gadshill is still more forcible against his character; yet, what appears even in this business but that Falstaff was surprised into fear in one single instance; that being taken off his guard he acted like a coward; he was not, more than greater heroes, free from the sudden impression of a moment, or exempt from panic and surprise. If a single exception can destroy a general character, Hector was a coward, Frederick II. a recreant, and Mark Anthony a poltroon. In the present instance, Falstaff had committed an illegal act; the action was over, and he had without his mind in security; the spirit of enterprise and the animating principle of hope were withdrawn. In this situation he is unexpectedly attacked; he has no time to recall his thoughts, or bend his mind to action; he is not now acting in the profession and habits of a soldier; he is associated with known cowards; his assailants are vigorous, sudden and bold; he is conscious of guilt; he has dangers to dread of every form, present and future—prisons, ropes and gibbets, as well as sword and fire; he is surrounded with the darkness of night; and the sheriff, and the hangman, and the whole posse comitatus may be at his heels. Without a moment for reflection, is it wonderful that, under such circumstances, he should "run and roar, and carry his guts away with as much dexterity as possible?" Yet, even here, surprised as he is, and deserted by his companions, he endures at resistance; for "all his companions run away, and Falstaff, after a blow or two, runs away also." A laughable proof that the best courage, as well as the best wit, may be made a Jack o' lantern, when it is on an ill employment.

On the whole, in support of his courage appear his knighthood, his pension, his general character as a soldier, after upwards of forty years service, his estimation with his brother officers, his assisting in councils of war, even where the king presided, his easy and unembarrassed deportment in the heat of a desperate battle, and, which is of very great weight in his favor, his own soliloquies in the very midst of danger, when none could hear, and when, by consequence, he had no temptation to disguise his real feelings. In all these points his courage is supported by very clear and honorable proofs.

Against it are his counterfeit depth in the battle with Douglas, which, after what has been submitted, will appear scarcely an imputation; and his disgrace at Gadshill, which, considering the uncommonly well laid and well executed scheme against him, it was hardly possible for any elevation of wit or courage to avoid.

Surely, after this statement, it is not too much to say that though he was "Jack with his familiars," he was "Sir John with all Europe;" and that, though "not absolutely John of Gaunt," he was very far from being a constitutional coward.

Lynchburg, Oct. 6.

VIRGINIA STATE IMPROVEMENTS.

The patrons of the Echo will learn with satisfaction, that Mr. Baldwin, the principal engineer to the board of public works, ar. in Charleston, on the Great Kanawha, on the 22d ult. having made an accurate survey of the James River, from Beale's Bridge, near Pattonsburg, to the mouth of Dunlap's Creek, and of the road from thence to the Great Falls of Kanawha. He found it practicable to make an excellent road on this route which will probably be constructed at less expense than any other turnpike, from the great quantity of materials of all kinds with which the country abounds. After taking the latitude of the Falls of Kanawha, he has made a survey of that beautiful and interesting river as far as Charleston, noting the numerous Salt Works on its margin, now in full operation, and making at present at the rate of more than half a million of bushels per annum; at the same time measuring the road on the side of the river with great care and attention. He and his party proceeded down the river in two boats to Point Pleasant and will probably terminate their laborious undertaking at that place, at which the Kanawha and Ohio form a junction. [Echo.]

Washington, Oct. 18.

We understand that a treaty was signed at the foot of the Rapids of the Miami of Lake Erie on the 29th ult. by governor Cass and general McArthur, commissioners appointed by the president of the United States, and the chiefs of the Winandot, Delaware, Shawanoes, Seneca, Ottoway, Chippeway, and Potawatamy tribes of Indians; by which these tribes have ceded to the U. States all the lands which they claimed within the limits of the state of Ohio.

It is understood that the Indians now residing on the ceded lands will not remove from them, but will remain and be subject consequently to the laws of the state of Ohio, and those of the United States. They have reserved to themselves within the ceded territory a number of separate tracts of land, amounting altogether to about three hundred thousand acres, which is to be held by them in fee-simple, under a patent from the president of the United States, and subject to be alienated with his approbation, so long as it remains Indian property.

This treaty, whether considered in its fiscal, political, or moral effects, may be considered as one of the most important which has ever been entered into with our red brethren. The quantity of land acquired is between seven and eight million of acres, equal in quality and situation to any other tract of land of similar extent in the United States, and which will from the facility afforded to emigrants from the New England states, and that of New York, by means of the Lake navigation, be settled with an unexampled rapidity, and will bind together and strengthen the whole extent of our North West Frontier, in such a manner as to make the acquisition, in a military point of view, invaluable.

The treaty lately concluded with the Cherokees, and that now alluded to, forms the commencement of a system by which the white and red population of our country will be amalgamated by a gradual but sure process; the foundation of which was laid by Mr. Jefferson, when he introduced his system for the promotion of civilization among the Indians; a system that has diffused among them a knowledge of the value of property, created a corresponding desire to appropriate it specifically, and impressed them with the necessity of adequate laws for its protection.

These treaties were entered into under instructions, issued through the department of war, and will evince to the citizens of the western states that their essential interests are understood and attended to by the government.

Philadelphia, Oct. 18.

We are indebted to friend in this city, for the following interesting commercial intelligence, being the copy of a letter from one of the most respectable American houses in Bordeaux.

"Bordeaux, Sept. 1, 1817.

"The opinion which we expressed in our late advices, relatively to the maintenance of the high prices of our exports, have not only been realized, but some of the articles have advanced beyond our calculation. The produce of our vineyards, lately estimated at one half, will not exceed one third of a tolerably abundant vintage, in this neighborhood, and the South of France; and it appears that the wine countries of Spain do not offer much better prospects. Brandies have consequently advanced to unprecedented prices; good Armagnacs, of American 4th proof, could not be put on board under 925f. per 50 vells, and genuine Cognacs would cost upwards of 1800f. The advance in wines although less rapid, has progressively increased, and the stock of good qualities is so much exhausted, that it is difficult to procure them even at their elevated prices. The favorable temperature of the weather gives us reason to calculate on our approaching scanty vintage proving of good quality.

"Our crops of grain have proved of superior quality, but have fallen short of our expectations, in quantity, and we shall probably be compelled to have recourse to foreign supplies, at least for the colonies, which will naturally be furnished by the United States. The bounty on the importation of grain which was to expire this day, throughout France, has been prolonged indefinitely for the ports of the Mediterranean and for those from the frontiers of Spain, to the Gironde inclusively; but it has ceased for all the ports north of Bordeaux. French flour is worth 65f. and American 60f. per bbl. but an approaching diminution may be expected with certainty as soon as the new crop can be brought to market in large quantities. Before our next advices we shall be enabled to estimate the produce of the latter with more precision.

"Silk goods have continued to advance in consequence of the scarcity and dearth of the raw material, and the manufacturers generally limit their operations to the execution of orders in hand, for which they obtain high prices, and must continue to do so until next Spring.

"Cottons continue steady, Louisiana's at 230f. to 245f. Uplands, 190f. to 235f. and Sea Islands, 300f. to 315f. all in entrepot. Good qualities are demanded, but inferior sorts are rather heavy; and only sell in consequence of the general scarcity of the article.

"As stated in our former advices, the variations in cottons must depend on the result of your approaching crop, of which we have but an imperfect idea. Rice fluctuates from 36f. to 40f.; the latter is the actual price, there being but little at market.

"The sale of tobacco has become very heavy, and our prices decline as soon as our supplies increase. The Regio, which has been in the habit of fixing days, every month or six weeks, for the tender of this article, has suspended its purchases for the moment, and from the best information we can obtain, they are not likely to recommence before the beginning of November.—We have not been able to ascertain the extent of their wants for next year.—They have purchased upwards of 900 hds this year, but this does not justify the calculation of a regular consumption of that quantity, as their stock was previously small, and the failure of the crop of the indigenous leaf last year necessitated a substitution of American tobacco for this deficiency. About 100 hds. of good Kentucky leaf were lately sold at 85f. for a neighboring market in Spain; but a direct arrival at the latter has since deprived us of that resource. Some small parcels of good Virginia have been sold for Germany at 85f.

"Pot ashes have been sold as low as 45f. in entrepot, and salt is extremely languid.

"The demand for colonial produce has become animated, particularly for coffee and raw sugars. The former is current, West India 17. 65f. to 1.15f. per lb.; the latter a 50f. to 66f. per 100 lb.; brown Havana sugar, 60 to 68f.; white do 70 to 85f.; pepper, 95 to 95f. per lb. all in entrepot. Exchange on London, 24f.

Extract from a Bremen Price Current of August 24th, received at the Baltimore Merchants' Coffee House.

Coffee, Java, 20a21—supports a lively demand; good ordinary Domingo commands 20 gs; fine ord. 20 1/2 gs. Our stock is indifferent, and no sufficient supplies being expected from the W. India islands, prices are anticipated to support firmly the elevated stand.

Sugars, Eng. double ref. 20a22—are not less demanded; white Havana is sold at 16 1/2 gr; holders demand 17 gs; yellow at 13a14 gs; Muscovadoes are greatly wanted.

Molasses, British 100 lbs. 9 2-3—are scarce and sell readily. There is now a lively demand for Cotton, Pernambuco, 45 a 48—we obtained 37 1/2 gs for a middling quality of Louisiana—first quality would likely command 39 gs. Our market has not altered for Tobacco, Can. Varinas, per lb 1 3-4—the old descriptions are running short, and support high prices; our supplies of fresh Maryland have as yet been but indifferent. We sold fresh Kentucky at from 11 1-2 to 18 gs; stems are somewhat lower.

Whale Oil, Greenland, p 6 st or 5 1-2 gall. Rt. 33a35 1-2—is in brisk demand; the whole fisheries having in general proved very short this year—South sea oil is willingly paid with 29 gs; Sea elephant oil with 30a30 1-2 gs.

Asbes, pot. American pr. 100 lb. 15—are still rather dull.

Rum, Jamaica 70 a 90—sells but slowly, but prices support their stand.

Logwood, is now in better demand—good quality finds sale at 2 gs.

Drugs and spices have not altered in their favor.

Imports of American and colonial produce from the opening of navigation to the end of July.

Coffee, 3157 casks, 22760 bags.

Cotton 2522 bales, 125 seroons.

Hides, B. A. 25688 pieces.

Indigo, 172 chests and 31 seroons.

Quercitron bark, 662 casks.

Rum, 2194, puncheons.

Sugar, 2806 casks, 6106 boxes, 2973 bags.

Tobacco, 3014, hds. 525 seroons, 1674 bales, 767 canisters.

Tobacco stems, 1431 hds. 398 bales.

Tea, 2984 chests.

Whale oil, 1555 casks, 652 barrels.

Extract of a letter from Calcutta, East Indies.

"We next visited a favorite residence of the present Vizier, called Moobarick-Munzul, a small house on the bank of the Goomty. An officer having expressed a desire to see an elephant and crocodile fight, which had been previously talked of by the Vizier, and his courtiers, his excellency had the goodness to send to the river Gograt and ordered several to be caught and brought on hackeries to the Goomty. We walked from Moobarick-Munzul over a new bridge of boats with wroden rowers, battlements, and embrasures for cannon upon it, to the opposite side, and there was an immense alligator and middle-sized crocodile alive, with several of the latter lying dead. The elephants were brought up to the crocodile, and one of them trod upon it with his foot, so as almost to crush it; altho' the crocodile screamed with pain, it recovered. The elephants could not be made to attack the large alligator, than which a more hideous monster cannot be imagined, with a prodigious long head and sharp teeth; the elephants approaching near to it, carefully rolled up the proboscis into the smallest possible circumference, and whenever one came near, the alligator made a snap at the proboscis, or one of the legs of the elephant;—the jaws meeting without seizing any part of the animal, gave a smart sound, that might have been heard at some distance. A country dog was then brought and tied near the alligator, who got it completely in his mouth, the dog at times escaping out, attacking and biting the monster's nose, or substance at the extremity of the upper jaw, making it bleed freely, although at one time the dog's hind foot was in its mouth; however, the alligator at last got the dog again in his mouth, and gave it so severe a crush between its long and formidable teeth, that the dog appeared dead: water was then thrown by Cheatees upon the alligator and dog, and the latter liberated from the mouth of the monster; when, to our very great surprise and pleasure, up rose the dog, and ran off; this occurred with two country dogs, and both got off safe. It was not a very gratifying spectacle, but certainly a very curious one."

Extract of a letter from St. Helena, dated in June last.—"Madame Bertrand continues the same gay creature as ever. She was brought to bed a few days ago. Buonaparte paid her a lying-in visit. She took her child in her arms, and presented it to the ex-emperor, saying, 'Sire I have the pleasure of shewing you a great curiosity—in a word, an unique—the first stranger that ever was allowed to approach your majesty in this island, without permission from the governor, or an order from the secretary of state.' Boney was quite pleased at the bet and laughed heartily.

ADDITIONAL EUROPEAN INTELLIGENCE.

To the intelligence published yesterday, received by the Margaret Kelley, in 40 days from London, we now add the summary of information by this arrival.

The plague has extended its ravages to Albania and Dalmatia, and has also again manifested itself in the islands of the Archipelago.

Gustavus, the ex-King of Sweden, left Frankfurt on the 18th August, and proceeded to Basle, where he is now to reside for the present.

The Archduchess of Austria, princess Royal of Portugal and the Brazils, arrived at Leghorn on the 8th August, embarked on the 13th on board the Portuguese squadron, and sailed for Rio Janerio.

A convention has been entered into at Rome, on the 11th June, between the Roman Pontiff, Pius VII. and the King of France, giving additional important advantages to the dominions of his Holiness in France.

JOHN LAYR, has been arrested in England, on a charge of having, with unknown confederates, robbed the royal mint of several bars of silver.

A ship sailed from England in March last, with convicts for Botany Bay, who, attempting to take possession of her, were subdued, after losing twenty of their number.

The present demand for iron on the continent of Europe, is represented to be such, particularly in France, that vessels sent from Bristol to Newport for cargoes, have been unable to obtain them; and to complete their shipments have been compelled to obtain the iron from Bristol.

Lord Cochrane has embarked to take up his residence in the Netherlands.

The survey of all the several men of war at all the ports of England, is in a state of forwardness. Many ships are ordered to be sold or broken up, and others, which admit of it, to be repaired. Among the former, are the Chatham 74, Cormorant, store ship, and some sloops.

The celebrated General Jomini, who deserted from the French Army during the late war, and who has since been in the employ of Alexander, is said to be engaged in writing a history of the two last campaigns—Barclay de Tolly and other distinguished officers having furnished him with the necessary materials for the accomplishing of the work.

It is mentioned under the Paris head that the ship Mary, of the United States, which arrived at Havre in May last from China, having been a year in the Pacific, touched at the Marquesas Islands; and that while at one of them, a number of the natives having come on board, the crew considered that they might in consequence safely go on shore unarmed—on doing which the natives immediately killed and devoured two of them. Those who were on board were retained and carried to Havre, having on the passage become good sailors.—They were however, in constant fear that the captain intended serving them as their countrymen had three of the crew. Their bodies were tattooed, & one of them called himself a prince of the Island.

The whole amount of cotton consumed in England in 1817, was 10 to exceed ninety two million lbs.—twenty million more than in 1816.

The widow of Toussaint Louverture, a former chief of St. Domingo, lately died in France, leaving two sons, one of which is receiving his education through the bounty of the British government.

A fever which has proved very fatal, prevails at Malta.

A very interesting biography of the life of Madame de Staël has been published in the European papers.

A notice was lately circulated in secret at Madrid, of which the following is the substance—"The creditors of the King may now expect to be called upon to present their several accounts without delay for payment, as there can be no doubt of an overflowing treasury, in proof of which his majesty has just expended sixty thousand dollars on a cradle, and one hundred thousand dollars for the lace of a single dress for the prince or infant that is yet to be born."

Advices were received at Liverpool on the 20th August, that the law prohibiting the importation of flour to the United States into Ireland, which had been suspended, was again in operation, by an order of the Irish government of the day previous.

It is stated that all the traces of the plague on the Turkish frontiers have disappeared.

A letter has been received in London from Ghent, dated the 25th August, which says, "We learn from Antwerp, that M. Regnault St. Jean d'Angle, whom some writers represent as mad, arrived on Sunday in that city from New-York. He is going to Aix la Chapelle, to his wife, who is ill there."

Carnot is said to lead a very retired life at Magdeburg, and that he is on the point of finishing a work on the revolution, from 1789, to the second restoration in 1815.

A destructive fire was experienced at Constantinople on the night of the 7th August, which destroyed the greater part of that quarter of the city inhabited by the Armenians.

Which have within sixteen years past cured an immense number of persons of both sexes of every age and in every situation, of various dangerous complaints arising from WORMS, and from obstructions or foulness in the stomach and bowels.

This medicine bears no analogy whatever to others of similar titles so commonly complained of as operating with violence; on the contrary a particular excellence of this remedy is its being suited to every age and constitution. It contains nothing but what is perfectly innocent & is so mild in its operation that it cannot injure the most delicate pregnant lady or the tenderest infant of a week old should no worms exist in the body; but will without pain or griping cleanse the stomach and bowels of whatever is foul or offensive, and thereby prevent the production of worms and many fatal disorders. The lozenges are particularly efficacious in carrying off all gross humours and eruptions, feverish and bilious complaints, and are the safest and mildest purgative that can be used on any occasion.

Description of Worms, and the symptoms by which they are known.

Worms which infest the human body are chiefly of four kinds viz.—The Terebra or large round worm; the Ascarides or small maw-worm; the Cucurbitaria or short flat white worm; and lastly, the Tenia or tape-worm, so called from its resemblance to tape. This is often many yards long and is full of joints. It is most hurtful and most difficult to remove.
Among the symptoms attending worms are—disagreeable breath, especially in the morning; bad and corrupted fumes; itching in the nose, and about the seat; convulsions, epileptic fits, and sometimes privation of speech; starting and grinding of the teeth in sleep; irregular appetite, sometimes loathing food and sometimes voracious; purging with slimy and foetid stools; vomiting; large and hard belly; pains and sickness at the stomach; pains in the head and thighs and lowness of spirits; slow fever with small and irregular pulse; a dry cough; excessive thirst; sometimes pale and unhealthy countenance, and sometimes the face bloated and flushed.
Persons afflicted with any of the above symptoms should have immediate recourse to Hamilton's Worm Destroying Lozenges, which have been constantly attended with success in all complaints similar to those above described.

A dose of this medicine given occasionally during the warm season, will effectually prevent "the vomiting and purging of children"—a dreadful disorder, which annually destroys thousands of the infant part of our citizens. It is likewise the mildest and most certain remedy known, and has restored to health and strength a great number when in an advanced stage of this fatal complaint. Particular and plain instructions are given for every part of the necessary treatment in such cases.

Children generally take this medicine with eagerness; having a pleasing appearance, and an agreeable taste.

For the prevention and cure of BILIOUS and MALIGNANT FEVERS is recommended

Hahn's ANTI-BILIOUS PILLS

THIS Medicine has been attended with a degree of success highly grateful to the inventor's feelings in several parts of the West Indies and in the Southern and Middle States, &c.

The testimony of a number of persons can be adduced, who have reason to believe that a timely use of this salutary remedy has, under Providence, preserved their lives when in the most alarming circumstances.

Facts of this conclusive nature speak more in favour of a medicine than columns of pompous eulogy founded on mere assertion.

It is not indeed presumptuously proposed as an infallible cure, but the inventor has every possible reason that can result from extensive experience for believing that a dose of these Pills taken once in every two weeks during the prevalence of our bilious fevers, will prove an infallible preventive; and further, that in the earlier stages of those diseases their use will very generally succeed in restoring health, and frequently in cases esteemed desperate and beyond the power of common remedies.

The operation of these pills is perfectly mild, so as to be used with safety by persons in every situation and of every age.

They are excellently adapted to carry off superfluous bile and prevent its morbid secretions—to restore and amend the appetite—to produce a free perspiration and thereby prevent colds which are often of fatal consequences. A dose never fails to remove a cold if taken on its first appearance: they are celebrated for removing habitual costiveness—sickness at the stomach and severe head-ache—and ought to be taken by all persons on a change of climate.

They have been found remarkably efficacious in preventing and curing disorders attendant on long voyages, and should be procured and carefully preserved for use by every seaman.
